BRYANT BASKET COMPANY COLLECTION

INTRODUCTION

This collection contains records from the John T. Bryant Basket Company. This company underwent several name changes while under different ownership throughout the years. It appears that John T. Bryant joined with W.B. Donaldson to purchase the Urbana Broom Company in approximately 1890. Mr. Donaldson had previously owned a business in Circleville, Ohio as recorded in the book found in Series V. After purchasing the Urbana Broom Company the company was moved to Sidney, Ohio and became known as the Donaldson & Bryant Company. There are records (1891 & 1898) from this company found in Series V. It appears that around 1898 the company became known as the John T. Bryant Co. According to John T. Bryant's obituary he moved to Springfield in 1906 and formed the Bryant Manufacturing Co. along with his brother, W. H. Bryant. Mr. Bryant died in 1947 at which time his son, Albert, took over the business and it became known as the Bryant Basket Company. When Albert died in 1971 the business was sold to Roger Hart & family in Yellow Springs. It was located there for 6 years. Then it was moved back to Springfield. It was listed as a business in the Springfield City Directory through the year 1996.

There are 7 series in this collection. Series I contains 3 sub-series. The other series do not have sub-series. The collection fills 20 boxes. There are 18 record size boxes, 1 oversized box, and 1 small record box.

SPECIAL NOTE: Alphabetizing of the folders has been done by the first name of the person or company rather than the last. The decision was made to do this because business names would be alphabetized by the first word of the business and some of the correspondence to individuals was also business related, (i.e. orders, etc.) just not under an official business name. Therefore, to alleviate some business letters from being alphabetized one way and some another, all were filed according to the first name of the company or the individual.

Also, note that when there were postcards for companies or individuals that also had letter correspondence, the postcards were filed in the letter file. When the postcards for a company were the only type of correspondence, the postcards were filed in Series I Sub-series 2 Postcards.

SCOPE AND CONTENT

The time span of the main portion of this collection ranges in years from approximately 1919 to 1970. However, included in the part of the collection which covers the business history when it was owned in partnership with another person and prior to it being called the John T. Bryant Basket Company the years also include 1886-1906.

Series I Includes all correspondence including letters and postcards which actually had to do with the Bryant Basket Company and their sale of woodenware. It includes price quotes, orders, etc. It also includes general business letters regarding business that was not necessarily related to the basket business. Series II includes correspondence and additional items which were of a personal nature, mostly family letters. Series III includes all photos found in the collection. Series IV includes any news clippings found in the collection. Series V includes all invoices and correspondence that referred to the business prior to its being called the Bryant Basket Company. This also includes a ledger from W. B. Donaldson – 1886 and an order book for John T. Bryant – 1900. Series VI includes books found in the collection which includes basketry books. Series VII includes catalogs from other businesses from which the company might have ordered items to sell.

BIOGRAPHICAL INFORMATION

John T. Bryant was born in 1864 in Champaign County and died in 1947. He went into business with W. B. Donaldson and formed the Donaldson & Bryant Company in Sidney, Ohio. Later, in 1906, he moved to Springfield and along with his brother W. H. Bryant formed the Bryant Manufacturing Company, later known as the John T. Bryant Basket Company. It appears that in their earlier years the company purchased willow, hired basket makers and made most of their baskets. During WWII it became apparent through reading the correspondence that not only workers but willow was hard to come by and the basket business suffered. In later years it seems that they became more of a "middle-man" jobber-type of business, buying baskets from wholesalers and then selling them.

Mr. Bryant and his brother were both involved in the organization and development of the former First Morris Plan Industrial Bank and the Commercial and Savings Bank.

He had three daughters, Marie Bryant, Ada Raup and Helen Nimmer and two sons Albert and Charles. There are letters and references to these family members found in both the business and personal correspondence.

Following John T. Bryant's death his son Albert took over the company. His children were Joan Anderson and Barbara Johnson. Series II includes personal correspondence from them. Albert died in 1971.
